Teacher Martha's Class

The storm is over, the water has receded and the rainbow has appeared! The kids have a great understanding of the story, even in all of its details. We added to our mural in the hallway. Rain clouds and then the big handprint rainbow. The kids are so proud of their mural, a group project that turned out great! We had some rainbow activities this week as well. The kids made their own rainbow, working on the order of the colors. We sang a song about the color order and the kids' art is hanging next to the ark. We did a science experiment with the colors of the rainbow. We started with red, blue and yellow and ended up with all the colors. Jumping water was a fun thing to observe over a few days.

We don't do a bunch for St. Patty's Day, but the kids went on a hunt for treasure. They found gold coins in the refrigerator! We also used our math skills to count and graph Lucky Charms!

Always a favorite activity!

Have a great week off. I pray for all of my families to have a great break wherever the break leads you. Happy Spring!

Curious Kinders News

Daniel had a rough night in our Bible story for this week. Well, actually King Darius did. Daniel was spending the night with an angel and lions that had closed mouths. He was in good company. God is sooooo good! We enjoyed making a lion for our hallway bulletin board, and every time we walk by, we know that we never need to be afraid when we trust in God. We hadn't really mastered counting by 2's, so we worked on it some this week. For LA, we worked on word building, reading and completing our unit on B, W, J, & U. For science, we studied the different parts of the brain, and looked at one. The kids thought it was disgusting. It's a winner! We also learned about our 5 senses and also learned a little about tasting different things with our eyes closed. The kids were able to identify the different items and flavors.

When we return from spring break, we will continue to read about Daniel and the visions God gave him that promise the 2nd return of our Lord, Jesus. Can't wait till that day!!!! Our memory verse will be from John 14:3 – "I will come and get you so that you will always be with Me" We will continue reading and word building in Language Arts, and for math we will skip count by 5's. For Science we will be learning about how to care for our teeth and "My Plate" for healthy food choices.

Included in the Friday Folder is a Reading log for next week. When you read to your child, please fill it out, sign it, and return it with the Friday Folder on the next Monday. Have a great spring break! Mrs. Powell

Mrs. Davidson's Classroom

This week marks the end of the third quarter of the year - can you believe it?! We have continued looking at the story of Jesus and the children in Bible, and this week the kids drew a comic strip-type version of the story from one character's perspective. We also discussed how we can relate the way Jesus treated the children with how we treat each other. Because everyone is important to Him, and we want to be like Him, we ought to treat others with respect and kindness as well. We read through 1 Corinthians 13, the Love chapter, and our memory text has been 1 Corinthians 13:4 - "Love is patient and kind. Love is not jealous, or boastful or proud."

Both first and second grades have been practicing measuring in math using different tools and units of measure - paperclips and square pieces of paper, rulers, a yardstick, and a tape measure. We have been practicing our racquet skills in P.E. in preparation to learn about badminton. And in social studies we finished our unit on economics and then spent a class period identifying the states.

I hope you all have a safe and relaxing spring break!

Mrs. Messecar's Classroom

This week we have been wrapping up all of our classes for this quarter. There have been a lot of learning opportunities in each subject from Lucifer's rebellion in Heaven, creation, the fall of man, Jesus coming as a baby, His death & resurrection & His second coming. We did artwork in Bible class to represent all that we've learned. Some students were very detailed in their pictures. They had a lot of fun doing it.

Math has been a struggle with multi-step story problems. It has challenged some of the students a great deal. They are improving and like the use of manipulatives, especially money, to help them figure it out.

Social Studies wrap-up for the year has been finishing World War II and learning a bit about what else has gone on in the United States since then. We wrapped it up by watching "Sound of Music" yesterday. A few of our classmates left early this week so we are down to 4 students Thursday and Friday. We have been able to have a bit of fun playing games and doing correction work.

Have a great Spring Break!
